INTRUDER

FROM GamePlan

NEW LASER BASE GAME CHALLENGES SKILL AND PROMOTES PROVED PROFIT PERFORMANCE . . .

Intruder has the popular space motif . . . but there the comparison with competitive units ends, or more likely, begins.

With most players becoming increasingly more skillful, now comes a game to challenge their highly sharpened techniques while being equally exciting to the occasional player.

Intruder is a unique combination of graphics, challenge, excitement and electronics to fulfill all of the requirements of a successful game that commands the first coin and promotes continuous play.

Rather than the usual action of space ships attacking the player, Intruder features two space ships in combat with each other. Two mother ships are located top and bottom with numerous space vehicles passing between them. Points are scored both for hitting the opposing mother ship and lesser points for hitting the smaller ships in between. But, there's a catch. There is a limited fuel supply. So, if the player uses too much fuel shooting the smaller ships, his laser will not reach the main ship for the big score. Then, he gets zapped!
